The public meeting, at the court-house, last Thursday night, called by the Board of Health, was not as largely attended as the occasion demanded. The object of the meeting was to take steps to improve the health condition, that is remove the causes in the town and county that bring about diseases. There were a number of local physicians present and several from a distance. The meeting was called to order by Dr. U. L. Taylor and there were a number of interesting papers and talks. Dr. McChord, of Lebanon, and Dr. Hammonds, of Dunville, and Dr. U. L. Taylor, of this city, all had well written papers. Judge H. C. Baker made a talk which was highly appreciated, and others present made pointed remarks.

Last week we received a communication from Mr. Matthew Taylor, Glensfork, telling the people how the voters in his district stood in the Democratic contest for the Presidential nomination and also for Congressman from the Eighth district. We had no objections to the article, but as a very large majority of the Democratic voters of Adair county would have agreed with Mr. Taylor, and as we were some what crowded for space, we did not publish the article, but sided with the writer.

Mr. Cyrus Roy, who lives on the Russell Springs road, nine miles from Columbia, has been in a critical condition for several weeks, and his recovery is doubtful. He is a victim of pulmonary trouble. He is an ex-Federal soldier, serving in the 13th Kentucky infantry. He has been a good citizen from youth to old age.

The Bank of Columbia, the State Bank of Gradyville and the Farmer's Bank of Casey Creek, all publish very creditable statements in to-day's paper.

A Case of Pellagra

Dr. F. G. Gabbert, who lives at Roley, this county, attended the meeting of the medical association here last Thursday. For more than a year he has been treating a boy, eleven years old, a son of Oscar West, who lives on Barnett's Creek, for Pellagra. He brought the boy to Columbia and Thursday night he was before the medical fraternity, at the court-house. Dr. McChord, of Lebanon, and other physicians examined the patient, all agreeing that Dr. Gabbert had rightly diagnosed the case.

Mrs. Mont Cravens was terribly frightened last Thursday morning. She was in her yard, working with her flowers. In reaching to remove some rubbish she discovered a snake, coiled near the roots of the flowers. Screaming, her husband went to her rescue and killed the reptile. Mr. Cravens says that he does not know, but is satisfied from what he has heard, that it was a copperhead.

A difficulty that was largely discussed at the time it occurred, was settled by trial last Thursday—that of the Commonwealth against Mrs. Zach Sanders for maliciously striking Mrs. Richardson. The jury rendered a verdict for $5 and cost.

The Mercantile Association met last Tuesday night and decided that the next Bargain Days in Columbia would be held in the month of June. Some rare bargains will be offered, besides other inducements will be advertised in order to pay people to come to town in large numbers. In due time notification will be given.

A belled buzzard has been flying over the farm of Mr. S. W. Royse for the past eight or ten days. Mr. Royse says that he would like for the owner to put it up, as the ringing of the bell brings about confusion, the farm hands not knowing when to come in for dinner.

"STAGGERING TO A FALL."

In a statement given out at Louisville United States Senator-elect Ollie James declares he has triumphed over the Democratic machine of Kentucky and that the Haly-Mayo-Van Sant aggregation "is staggering to a fall."

Senator James's statement takes Governor McCreary to task for asserting in his open letter to Democrats, a few days ago, that they might instruct is district conventions for Presidential preference, Senator James says this is inaccurate with reference to the Kentucky situation, as these selections may or may not be approved by the state convention, and the state convention can instruct the delegates, or, if failing to instruct them, can apply the unit rule, and a majority of 26 votes, that is 14, will cast the entire 26 votes in the national convention.

He urges that the Democratic voters shall acquaint themselves thoroughly with the situation and not be deceived by political trickery designed to put a few scattered "uninstructed votes in the vest pockets of members of the millionaires' club." He quotes William Jennings Bryan and holds the "Peerless One's opinion" "that none but the faithful shall be placed on guard."

After declaring the Governor's statement to be incorrect and pointing out that a majority of delegates may swing the vote of the entire state. Mr. James says: "I observe that all of those who are opposing Champ Clark's candidacy are making the same contention as the Governor, and they are doing it for this reason; they see defeat ahead of them in the state convention, but they hope to pluck off here and yonder a congressional district and send it uninstructed so that the millionaires' club will have a few votes in their vest pocket when they see they are unable to get the whole state.

"I insist upon an instructed delegation. I call upon every Democrat in Kentucky who is the friend of Speaker Clark in the race for the Presidency to see to it that true and tried Clark men are put on the delegation. It is of great importance that we have the real friends of Champ Clark in the state convention, and those who would cast a perfunctory vote of the county for instructions for him might be able to destroy his chances for success in the state by votes upon preliminary questions.

Of course, I am glad that Governor McCreary is for Speaker Clark. I regret that he did not in his last article insist that the delegates should be instructed. If the people are for Champ Clark why not instruct the delegates to carry out their will. I do not agree with the Governor that it disturbs harmony in the Democratic party to allow the people to instruct their delegates.

"The Haly-Mayo-Vanzant machine is staggering to a fall. I know how hard it is to fight a machine. I know how unequal is the battle. I have made it. I know the work, the trouble, the sleepless nights it causes. I triumphed over the machine.

"The people did it for me. They gave strength to my arms and force to my blows, and I then resolved that wherever I could strike a blow or turn a wheel in favor of the real rule of the rank and file of Democracy that blow would be turned. In the words of William J. Bryan I say:

"Instruct your delegates from the precinct up and they cannot then misrepresent you at the state or national convention without putting dishonor upon themselves."

A Loved One Gone.

On Friday morning May the 3, 1912, just at the dawning of another day, the grim monster of death inspite the efforts made by loving, tender hands prompted by aching hearts and distressed minds to pervert, entered the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Patterson and broke the first link in the family chain by claiming for its victim their 18 year old son, Will Tom. He had been attending school at Columbia, for some time, came home sick of what the Physicians pronounced an abscess on the liver, and died within ten days. To the sorely bereaved family I know from an experienced knowledge that the removal of their dear boy from them will seem almost as a death stroke, and truly when we think of the call being made for him so early in life, just as he was blooming into bright young manhood, his parents having so many fond hopes in heaven for him and in their imagination could see the end of his bright future. Believing it from a natural and a selfish stand point we would say it seems so hard that he must die, and how can we hear it. But dear sister be reconciled for if we will look away from self and confidently lean upon the bosom of the spotless son, a voice will softly whisper it is justice, but trust me and I will give you grace and strength sufficient to breast the dark waves.

Why then should we grieve or ask for him back in this sinful world, when we know he rest in that clime, sweet Eternal and here we are by toil each day be present, and doubtless if it was possible that his noble spirit could come again and speak to you; Dear mother and father don't weep for me I had no fear while crossing over and I'll be waiting at the crossing for you when the Savior shall have said to you as he did to me come higher my child thy work on earth is finished.

When we speak of his arrival at noble young manhood its only a slight representation of his youthful traits for purity, nobility and obedience were so characteristic from his earliest childhood. Be consoled loved ones at home and let the grace of God and the gentle hand of time and friends heal the wound so roughly made. Aunt Laura.

Escapes An Awful Fate.

A thousand tongues could not express the gratitude of Mrs. J. E. Cox, of Joliet, Ill., for her wonderful deliverance from an awful Typhoid pneumonia had left me with a dreadful cough," she writes. Sometimes I had such awful coughing spells I thought I would die. I could get no help from doctor's treatment or other medicines till I used Dr. King's New Discovery. But I owe my life to this wonderful remedy for I scarcely cough at all now. Quick and safe it's the most reliable of all throat and lung medicines. "But Still Unbowed."

A St. Louis report tells of a German-American who is, at the ripe age of 101 years, walking from Hickman to Chicago, "dead broke." His two sons and four daughters were drowned in the Galveston flood. He raked together the remains of his property and started raising poultry at Hickman. The flood drowned all of his chickens and left him penniless.

There's a bit of verse somewhere, by some one whose name we don't at present recall, about a man who "under the bludgeonings of fate" thanked the God who made him that his "head, though bloody, was still unbowed."

The venerable German, survivor of the Mexican war, survivor of the Galveston flood, survivor of the Hickman flood, survivor of eighty years of honest toil, with its trials and risks and vexations, its triumphs and its defeats; survivor of the wreck of home and fortune, who turns a cheerful face toward a foot journey of hundreds of miles without a dollar in his pocket and with a burden of more than a century upon his shoulders, should serve as an inspiration to young men who have their way to make in the world.—Frankfort News.

Vester.

On last Sunday night May the 5th, 1912, the death angel visited the home of Mr. M. W. Smiley, and claimed for its victim his loving wife. She had been sick for about four months, she bore her suffering well. Her death was due to consumption. Mrs. Smiley was loved by all who knew her, and if she had an enemy no one knew of it. And at the age of 18, she had surrendered her life to God, and while living the life of a private christian she could realize that the Load was with her illness. She would call on the Lord, saying Lord abide with me and all. Sunday before she died she sang in a clear voice and with confidence Tarry with me Jesus" she seemed to be happy while singing the beautiful song. She was 39 years old. She leaves a husband and five children, and a host of friends and relatives. Her funeral was conducted by Rev. Johnie Rice, and her remains were laid to rest in the Bear Wallow cemetery by the side of her father, who preceded her years ago. Bereaved husband and children have the deepest sympathy of the whole neighborhood. It can be truly said a good woman has gone from us to await the resurrection morn.

California Speaks.

Of course if the women of the United States want him we shall have to take Teddy, of whom it will then be permissible to write "first in the hearts of his countrywomen." The ladies of California, whether entitled to speak for those of forty-seven buxom sisters or no, certainly look kindly on the ex-President.

California's primary has eccentricities all its own. Its preference is expressed by a plurality, all the delegates being required to be elected by the State at large. That provision, if it had obtained in Massachusetts, would have given Mr. Taft the whole delegation, thirty-six in all.

Mr. Roosevelt, whether his vote be large or small, has only to gain a bare plurality to secure the twenty-six votes, and these he undoubtedly has. The diversion of the Wisconsin man has not sufficed to save the President's bacon, neither are his services in connection with the Panama show to be rewarded. A city can be just as ungrateful as a republic, and San Francisco turns him down.

In California, as in Nebraska and Oregon, La Follette seems to be powerless to hamper the progress of the burly gentleman who threw him down and, as to the President, he is too galant to fight against the ladies, who, when they speak, speak with unanimity.—Louisville Times.

The Resolutions.

The following resolutions were offered by Squires W. A. Coffey at a meeting held in Stanford a few days ago. They were unanimously adapted.

Whereas, Civil Government is a divine institution, ordained of God for the happiness and well being of men, and whereas civil officers are called in the Bible "God's ministers, to execute wrath upon him that doeth evil" we conclude that those who seek these positions should be clean, capable and honest, free from immorality, and their characters worthy of the high places to which they aspire. Since civil officers are God's ministers, the courthouse and the capitol become as sacred as the church and to put corrupt and conscienceless men into office is to profane these places and thereby give offense to the Mighty Ruler of the universe, and to bring upon ourselves his just and righteous judgment.

Therefore, we the people of Lincoln county of all political parties and religious beliefs, in mass meeting assembled recognizing our responsibility to God and our fellow men, for the proper exercise of the elective franchise, and realizing the great danger to our free institutions by electing bad men to office.

Resolve.—Since the uncorrupted ballot is the palladium of our liberties we view with alarm the increasing number of votes who are willing to barter their franchise. We therefore demand of every candidate who asks our suffrage that he refrain absolutely from the use of money or intoxicating drinks in his effort to obtain a nomination or to be elected to any office.

2.—That the road to preferment should be open to all worthy aspirants and since, under present conditions it is well nigh impossible for a man to be elected to office without smirching his character and forfeiting his honor, we are determined to use our best efforts to reverse conditions, and make it impossible for unworthy men to gain these coveted places. In so doing, we will inspire our young men to adopt high ideals and build characters, in order that they may enjoy the confidence and receive the support of their fellow citizens.

3.—That our laws against the sale of intoxicating liquors are a boon of untold value in protecting our people from the temptation to drink. We therefore solemnly pledge ourselves to support no man for any office who is not in sympathy with laws, and whose record does not furnish a sufficient guarantee of the sincerity of his professions, and of his pledge to do all in his power to have them enforced against any and all violators of these laws.

5.—That the compulsory primary election law, recently enacted, gives to the voters of Kentucky, an opportunity they have never before enjoyed of nominating good men for office; we therefore urge every man to go to the polls, having in mind the highest good of his country, and cast his vote for that candidate who is best fitted for the office.

6.—That every newspaper in this judicial and congressional district be requested to publish these resolutions, and that the Secretary of this meeting be instructed to furnish them copies of the same.

4.—That it is the prerogative of the people to say what shall be enacted into law, and that their representatives in the law making bodies of the land are in honor bound to regard their wishes in legislation. It is therefore our duty to demand of candidates what their views are upon great questions that are agitating the country, that we may know whether or not they will represent us when they take their seats in the councils of the state or nation.

Gone to Rest

In San Diego Cal., May 4th, the death angel visited the home of Mr. Will Penick and claimed for its victim his devoted wife, Cora Lee Penick.

She had been in poor health for several years but put her trust in her Savior and lived a true christian until the end came. She was born and raised near Cane Valley, Ky., and left here six years ago and went to California where she was married to Mr. Will Penick. She leaves her husband, a little son, one sister and brother and a host of other relatives and many friends as she was loved by all who knew her.

She prayed before she died that all would meet her in heaven. Oh! What a sweet but sad thought to know that a loved one so pure and good has gone to the realm of glory.

She was laid to rest in the cemetery at San Diego. She is not dead but sleepeth. May the Father in heaven comfort the loved ones as they await the call to join her in the land of eternal rest. Mrs. T. F. Corbin.

CAUSE AND REMEDY.

Uncertainty of the immediate future is looked upon by many men of affairs, as a blockade to enterprise and business prosperity, and this blockade is now quite apparent throughout the channels of trade.

The Presidential Election; the efforts of Congress with no fixed purpose; Organized Labor as a new factor in politics; together with other matters of greater or less import, represent at this time a chaotic conflict of separate interests, to harmonize which is now the problem before the country.

All want Prosperity, Peace and Plenty. Read with care the Cincinnati Enquirer, a journal that prints all the news each day from every commercial center throughout the world. A barometer of causes and effects that points out, as a Beacon Light, the danger and the safeguard therefrom.

As well known, the Daily Enquirer is the largest in size and highest priced paper in the United States, yet cheapest, measured by quality and quantity.

The Weekly Enquirer, with the cream and digest of all the news, able and conservative editorials, market reports, methods and results from Government and State Experiment Stations, veterinary matters, People's Forum, choice literature, short and continued stories, non-sectarian sermons, general information, etc., with the exclusion of all matters of scandal and immorality, is today the Cleanest Weekly Family Journal obtainable. Each issue is alone worth the price of a year's subscription.

Solicitors for subscriptions make a handsome profit and increase the good influence of The Enquirer in the uplift of morality and industry, and for the betterment and welfare of the community. For terms write to The Enquirer, Cincinnati, Ohio.

Fate of the Titanic.

On the bosom of the Atlantic,
Speeds a vessel in her pride;
'Tis the fearless great "Titanic,"
Caring not for ocean's ride.

On she sails with many travelers,
Fearing not the nearby tomb;
None had dreamed her fate so hopeless,

None had whispered of her doom.
In the silent midnight hour,
When the stars were shining bright—

Suddenly she lost her power,
Soon to sink from human sight.
"Save, Oh save," that wireless message,

As it floats out o'er the sea;
Hark! a call—O, come and save us,

Who, oh, who! then could it be.
Could it be that great Titanic,
Whom the nations now adore;

Should make her grave in the Atlantic,
Out so far from homeland shore
"Save! oh, save! again they hear it,

'Tis a sad and mournful plea;
Come and save us ere we perish
In a deep and icy sea.

Third class passengers on this steamer,
All now fare as millionaires—
Rank and station now so meager
All alike must say their prayer.

Wives and husbands part forever
As the life boats rush away;
'Till beyond deaths rolling river,
They shall meet in endless day.

Sweet and solemn—oh, so solemn;
Seems I almost hear the sound
Of the band so firmly playing,
All so near eternal land.

Now the band has ceased its playing,
Nearer still. O God, to three;
For the waves on deck are rushing,

Water now above the knee.
To its fate so soon was hurried,
Ere the hour hand reaches three,
This great ship was gently buried,
In a calm and peaceful eas.

Why The Astors Are Rich.

A writer for the New York American shows that the real estate assessments of the Astor estate in New York have grown $44,593,050 in twenty years. Vincent Astor inherits 126 parcels of land, which were taxed at $204,450 in 1892 and are now taxed at $53,787,500. It is estimated that Vincent Astor will get to be worth a quarter of a billion dollars by the time he is middle-aged.

The original Astor bought land in New York when the city was between Canal street and the Battery. Canal street is now, of course, way down town. The Astors have always bought and never sold, or rarely sold. Their increase have been enormous and they have never had to look at ticker to see whether they were rich. Theirs has been a good deal more comfortable way of making money than that of the plungers. And it required no more intelligence.

Real estate that is a good purchase is pretty readily recognizable. With the exception of investors, who try their luck in boom towns or under some sort of exceptional conditions, those who buy real estate and hold on to it make a substantial profit.

This is true in Frankfort as well as in other places. And it is true in Franklin county. Find out what any good building site in Frankfort is worth today and what it would have brought twenty years ago, or any good farm in the county. To get in the habit of buying real estate and not selling leads pretty surely to wealth.—Frankfort News.

Announcements

For Congress

We are authorized to announce Jack Chinn a candidate for Congress in the eighth district, subject to the action of the Democratic Primary to be held August 3, 1912.

Sullivan.

We are authorized to announce J. A. Sullivan, of Madison county, a candidate for Congress in this the Eighth District, subject to the action of the Democratic primary to be held August 3, 1912.

Champ Clark, Democratic candidate for President swept the State, and Kentucky's twenty-six votes will be cast for him at Baltimore convention. James claims that he will win for temporary Chairman of the State convention. Gov. McCreary's friends claim that he is an easy winner, Stephenson is very hopeful that he will win the Chairmanship of the State Central Committee, and Vanzant is confident that he will be selected.

Every indication points to a stormy time at the national Chicago Convention. Mr. Roosevelt claims that he will be nominated on the first ballot. President Taft makes the same claim for himself. To us it looks like the candidate who secures the organization of the convention at Chicago will be the winner.

The Republican national convention will convene at Chicago Tuesday, June 18. One week later, June 25th, the Democrats will assemble at Baltimore. The instructed vote between Taft and Roosevelt is close. Champ Clark has a good lead over the foremost of his opponents.

The Democratic State Convention will meet in Louisville to-day. The main fight will be upon the organization. The delegates to the Baltimore convention will evidently be instructed for Hon. Champ Clark for the Presidency.

Massachusetts, by the action of its Senate, is the first State in line in the Union to ratify the amendment to the Federal Constitution calling for direct election, by the people, for United States Senators.

Mr. Roosevelt and Governor Harmon carried Ohio last Tuesday. The only consolation the President has in considering he lost his own State, is that he carried New York, Mr. Roosevelt's State, over him.

The Republican primary is going on to-day in New Jersey. President Taft, Col. Roosevelt and Mr. La Follette have been speaking in the State for several days.

Democratic Convention.

Pursuant to a call the Democrats of Adair county met in the court-house Saturday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock for the purpose of selecting delegates to the State convention which meets in Louisville Wednesday, the 29th inst., for the purpose of electing delegates to the national convention which meets in Baltimore, Md., June 25th.

After the object of the meeting had been stated by J. W. Flowers, County Chairman, Hon. J. F. Montgomery was elected permanent; Chairman and Walker Bryant permanent Sec. On motion, the Chair appointed the following committee on resolutions: James Garnett, Rollin Hurt, W. B. Rowe, N. M. Tutt and T. P. Dunbar.

The Committee retired, and in a short time reported the following preamble and resolutions, which were unanimously adopted:

We, the Democrats of Adair County, in convention assembled at the court house in Columbia, Ky., on May 25th 1912, do reaffirm our allegiance to and belief in those principles of Democracy proclaimed by Thomas Jefferson which guided the destinies of the United States during the first half century of its existence, during which time the people enjoyed the greatest prosperity and the nation grew and expanded as no other nation has done. We are indebted to the Democratic members of the present Congress, led by the unerring hand of the Hon. Champ Clark of Kentucky, for the encouraging signs of victory at the coming November election, therefore be it resolved:

1. That we endorse the actions of the Democratic members of the special session of Congress as well as their actions during the present session of Congress, including the actions of the Hon. Champ Clark as speaker and the Hon. Harvey Helm, the member from the Eight District of Kentucky.

2 We endorse the action of the present Democratic State administration, which has labored faithfully and honestly to carry out every pledge made in the platform on which they were elected.

3. We appoint J. F. Montgomery, John C. Eubank, Walker Bryant, W. H. Wilson, S. H. Mitchell, Collie Murrell, Matthew Taylor, Dr. Harlan Simpson, N. T. Mercer, Leslie Rosenbaum, N. M. Tutt, Thelbert Walker, T. P. Dunbar, Stephen Goode, W. B. Rowe, Gus Dunbar, J. D. Lowe, Rollin Hurt, Fount Pendleton, Gordon Montgomey, Austin Wilmore, L. C. Winfrey, Olin Rosenbaum, Dr. W. F. Cartwright, Rufus Pulliam, H. L. James, H. N. Miller, M. Cravens H. A. Walker, J. W. Flowers, Silas Denney, A. H. Ballard, Leslie Tupman, James Garnett, J. E. Johnson, George Blair, C. S. Harris, J. L. Walker, W. I. Ingram, J. R. Gannett, J. B. Coffey, R. L. Davis, W. F. Neat, J. C. Bryant, R. L. Campbell, and all other good Democrats of Adair County as delegates to the State Convention to be held in Louisville on May 29th, 1912, and we direct said delegates to vote to instruct the delegates to the National Convention to vote for the Hon. Champ Clark for President, and we further instruct said delegates to vote for such party laws as will cause the members of the several committees to be elected by the people and as will preclude from said committees persons holding office, which in our opinion will prevent the creation of a political machine in the Democratic party in Kentucky.

Editor News:

I am going to ask the editor for space in his paper from a Kentuckian.

I am a constant reader of the News. Every week finds me looking forward to Saturday, the day the mail brings us the News. I most always find letters written by my friends and acquaintances, which I do heartily enjoy reading.

Bro. Williams I have just read your good letter in the News, and could almost hear you talking—delivering a good sermon, as you used to do at Creelsboro. I wonder what has become of our correspondent from that place. I enjoy reading letters from there, for it was once my old home on the Cumberland. Days, months and years have glided by in quick succession since I parted from my old friends there. Many of those who were only school boys and girls have grown to become famous men and women. Some have been taken by the silent reaper and crossed to the great beyond. Some have wandered far from home, and some have sailed out upon that most enchanting sea—matrimony. My wish is that each and every one as they journey through life find their pathway strewn with the most beautiful flowers, and when old father time has come, may they look back down the years and find that the greatest happiness of a life is well spent. It has been almost eight years since I came to Oklahoma. This is a beautiful country, fine farming, grazing, and the finest for hay I ever saw, cattle can graze the year around.

There are very few sheep raised, and always a good price, seems as though the farmers would take more interest in them instead of all to cattle and hogs.

We raise most all kinds of vegetables and fruits such as peaches, apples, pears, apricots and berries, and have a good prospect of the present crop.

Farmer diversify their crops. We now raise cotton, corn, wheat, oats, milo-maize, kafir corn, millet, sorghum, alfalfa and peas. The people have improved their farms, built good houses and barns, own less land and farm it better, only those who have lived here for some time can appreciate and realize in the development of the country in the last few years. The people are industrious, prosperous, contented, happy and religious, and still there are better days ahead.

There is some timber along the small streams, few springs and water fairly good. I think this a very healthful climate. We live twenty miles North-east of Lawton Lawton is quite a city, has built fast within the last seven years. Ft. Sill, four miles North of Lawton is a beautiful place decorated with lovely evergreens and the most beautiful and fragrant flowers of all kinds. The fort is almost completed. There are lot of Indians near the Fort. Many of them still dress in their same old manner and style.

Elgin is our closest railroad station, ten miles west, Fletcher eleven miles north, both small towns on the Frisco R. R. Our closest trading post is Sterling a small village two miles west with about two hundred and fifty inhabitants of which are all good moral people, have a splendid school, five churches, four dry goods and grocery stores, two hardware and furniture departments, two drug stores, one meat market, two blacksmith shops and a number one cotton gin.

I fear I am taking up too much space, will close for the present.

Jersey Ice Cream Freezer

Is easiest to operate, easiest to clean and requires less salt and ice than any other freezer. There are no cracks or corners of any kind in the can proper. This can is extra heavy and heavily tinned.

You don't pay the ice man for extra ice every time you use the Jersey. Just so much ice and salt is required to freeze a gallon of cream. More than this is waste. The Jersey provides just enough room for the ice and salt, no more. You will save several cents on ice and salt every time you use the Jersey.

Mr. H. N. Miller accompanied his mother, Mrs. Lou Miller, to Louisville last Sunday. Mrs. Miller has been in a critical condition for several months, and she went to the city to be treated by a specialist.

Mrs. J. O. Russell, Mrs. P. D. Neilson, Mrs. J. R. Hindman and Miss Kate Russell, were in Louisville last week, the two former to attend a mission meeting of the Methodist church, the two latter on a visit.

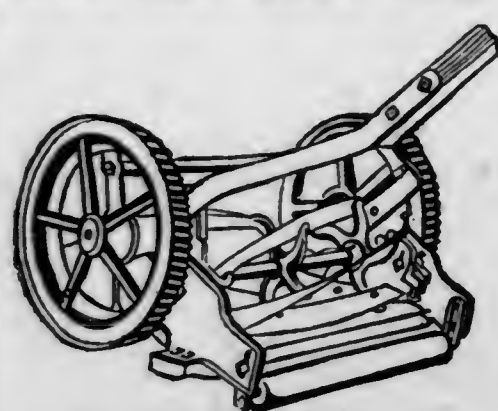

Dr. R. H. Perryman, a well-known physician in the eastern portion of this county, who has been quite ill for several months, is rapidly improving, as we are informed. His wife, who has also been very sick is yet in a critical condition.

Miss Flora Grider daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Grider, Montpelier, was dangerously ill last week, but is better at this writing. Miss Grider formerly resided in Columbia with her parents, and she has many friends here among the young people.

Rev. John N. Crawford, of San Jose, California, who is visiting his brother here, Rev. J. Russell Crawford, preached two interesting sermons at the Presbyterian church last Sunday forenoon and evening. Rev. Crawford has been a citizen of California for a great many years, and upon the meeting of the General Assembly at Louisville, a few days ago, was the first time the two brothers had met for fifteen years, as we have been told. It was a joyous meeting and in the days they are spending together many happy reflections come to mind. Mr. Crawford will start on his return trip some time this week.

Mr. J. H. Young and wife returned from Texas and Oklahoma last Monday morning. Mr. Elzy Damron, Mr. Youngs father-in-law, came back with them. Mr. Young reports that Mrs. Annie Frazer and her children are getting along nicely. In a piano contest at Brazoria, Texas, where Mrs. Frazer resided, her daughter, Miss Mary, won it by a decisive majority. Mr. Young and wife also visited Mr. Geo. Damron, a former citizen of Adair county, who resides in Oklahoma. Mr. Young says that Mr. Damron is the father of nine boys, all hustlers, seven of them married. Mr. Damron is a farmer and is prospering.

Sick Abed.

The wise ones said she's sick abed with no one to relieve her, For Dr. Taft is almost dead With Presidential fever.

Good Doctor Clark did then remark The patient's growing weaker, Her prospects now are very dark, Unless they call the speaker.

Our William J. was heard to say I'm always in position To heed a call by night or day, And I'm a fine physician.

Then Doctor Ted looked wise and said I've made a diagnosis, For I'm a doctor, born and bred, Well skilled in Hocuspocus.

To understand the case in hand When doctors disagree, Should leave it all at my command, For I'm the great M. D.

To take the case is no disgrace As all can plainly see, There's none prepared to fill the place Except the Lord and me.

Then doctor Taft replied and laughed, Gee Doc we're ruin hoses, While I am death on greed and graft, You crucify the Bosses.

How to be Certain of Curing Constipation

Prejudice is a hard thing to overcome, but where health is at stake and the opinion of thousands of reliable people differs from yours, prejudice then becomes your menace and you ought to lay it aside. This is said in the interest of people suffering from chronic constipation, and it is worthy of their attention.

In the opinion of legions of reliable American people the most stubborn constipation imaginable can be cured by a brief use of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. You may not have heard of it before, but do not doubt its merits on that account, or because it has not been instantly advertised. It has sold very successfully on word of mouth recommendation. Parents are giving it to their children today who were given it by their parents, and it has been truthfully said that more druggists use it personally in their families than any other laxative.

Letters recently received from M. E. Myers, Morrison, Tenn., and Ada Hamersmith, 118 W. Chestnut St., Louisville, Ky., are but a few of thousands showing the esteem in which Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is held. It is mild, gentle, non-gripping—not violent, like salts or cathartics. It cures gradually and pleasantly so that in time nature again does its own work without outside aid. Constipated people owe it to themselves to use this grand bowel specific.

Anyone wishing to make a trial of this remedy before buying it in the regular way of a druggist at fifty cents or one dollar a large bottle (family size) can have a sample bottle sent to the home free of charge by simply addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 405 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. Your name and address on a postal card will do.

And it came to pass after he had advertised his goods there came unto him a great multitude from all the regions round about and did buy from him. And when his competitors saw it they marveled among themselves. How be it that this man is so

Get Rid of The Flies.

If you have not begun your warfare against the fly, begin it today. One fly killed now is a vast benefit through the whole season. There is no use of burdening you with statistics relating to the multiplication of the fly, but it is sufficient to say that the fly is a breeder of disease, a carrier of contagion, and that every man who cares for his family ought to protect the family and himself from the fly, from disease that the fly carries, from the cost of sickness and from the loss through death. You will keep manure pit covered after a fashion, we imagine. Cover those pits with a canvas covering in order to keep the fly away from them. Watch every breeding place of the fly, and cover it with earth or lime, or, in case of the pits, with canvas.

Teach every member of the family that the fly is an enemy to be destroyed on sight. Keep him out of the house with screens, and then go to work destroying their breeding places.

We may say the like about mosquitoes, which carry the malaria from point to point, and, in times of yellow fever, spread yellow fever.

Life is one continual warfare against the enemies of life. It becomes the duty of every one, therefore, to do everything in his power to kill the flies and the mosquitoes, and prevent their multiplication.

The Sour Man.

The sour man is always sour, the milk of human kindness in his heart is curdled; there is no sweetness in the acid principles of his composition, nature has given him a quantum sufficient of lemon juice but he has forgotten the saccharine ingredients; he is sour from the rising of the sun to the going down of the same, in sunshine and noonsunshine, twilight and gaslight. When he awakes in the morning he grumbles because it is time to get up; his coffee is always too hot or too cold; his toast and his steak is either overdone or underdone; he finds nothing satisfactory in the morning papers. When he goes out he invariably grumbles at the weather; if it is a little cool he calls it artie weather; if mild he compares it to the tropics; should it drizzle he declares it rains pitchforks; and a gentle breeze is a hurricane.—Etc.

A letter from Paris, France, describes the passage across one of the most crowded streets of that metropolis of a little girl, five years of age, pushing a doll buggy. Everybody thought the child would be run over, but so excellent is the discipline on the city's streets that motor and horse vehicles alike were stopped, and the little girl got across safely. This is interesting, but the best is yet to come. The people, we are told, "cheered" the incident, but "the police took a more serious view of the incident and arrested the nurse, through whose inattention traffic had been held up and life endangered." And nobody will deny that the police took the right view of it.

BABY BORN AFTER MOTHER DIES, LIVES.

Quick Operation Performed at Fordham Hospital Proves Successful.

New York, May 13.—Born ten minutes after the death of its mother, an 8-pound boy is engrossing the attention of physicians at Fordham Hospital, where the Caesarian operation was performed by Dr. Herman Schorr. Mrs. Rebecca Lipschits, the mother, died of apoplexy.

The operation, which is extremely rare, occupied only a minute and a half. The night nurse, who handed him the instruments, was the only assistant of Doctor Schorr, for as soon as it was determined that Mrs. Lipschits was dead, the operation was decided upon. There was not time to remove her to an operating room. It required several minutes' time to screen the cot from other patients.

The Veterans' New Commander.

In his election as commander-in-chief, Gen. Bennett H. Young, of Louisville, received the highest honor in the gift of the United Confederate veterans.

North of Mason and Dixon's line, Gen. Young's declaration in his speech of acceptance—that he would rather be the commander-in-chief of the veterans of the Confederacy than President of the United States—may appear an exaggerated sentiment, born of the moment's enthusiasm. Here in the South, where those same veterans stand as the embodied reminder of splendid valor, of sustained courage, of faith kept and duty done, of the full measure of devotion given for the sake of principle for a cause held right, the sincerity of the new commander's feeling will go unquestioned.

The host he leads is an army of dead days that know no waking. It is in the twilight shadows of a day whose morning brought disaster and defeat. When evening comes it will vanish as did the cause and the country for which it fought—to return no more. But while memory fails not and men count honor as a thing worth while, its glory will live on.

Gen. Young may well wear proudly the title that now is his. That he will wear it with the single hearted purpose of service is attested by a life of service to the cause that he and his gray-haired and gray-jacketed comrades love so well.—Louisville Times.

Orchard and Garden Notes.

The strawberries set this spring should be cultivated often and shallow until the growing season is about over.

Don't let any fruit set—much less ripen. This will necessitate your going over your plantation five or six times, pinching off the fruits stems.

Let the first runners remain; it's the last ones that should be destroyed—not the first.

The hill system is all right for the amateurs—the man who has time to burn—but not for the commercial grower.

The currant and gooseberry should be more extensively grown. A rich, moist and partially shaded site is preferable. Keep your eyes open for the currant worm. Spray your bushes with arsenate of lead in combination with the Bordeaux mixture before his arrival, and a crop is assumed—otherwise not.

From Maysville to Louisville the Ohio river hills cannot be surpassed for commercial grape growing. The Concord and Catawba makes a strong combination on limestone soils.

The rots of the peach can be controlled by spraying with the selfboiled lime and sulphur wash of these proportions: water 50 gallons; stone lime 10 pounds; flowers of sulphur 10 pounds. Strain through a fine sieve before using.

The cold, wet weather has been very friendly to the development of all the rots and scab. If you have the commercial lime-sulphur you can use it in place of the Bordeaux mixture, at rate of 5 quarts to 50 gallons of water.

The Demands of the Swamp are mosquitos. As they sting they put deadly malaria germs in the blood. Then follow the icy chills and the fires of fever. The appetite flies and the strength fails; also malaria often paves the way for deadly typhoid. But Electric Bitters kill and cast out the malaria germs from the blood; give you a fine appetite and renew your strength. "After long suffering," wrote Wm. Fretwell, of Lucama, N. C., "three bottles drove all the malaria from my system, and I've had good health ever since." Best of all stomach, liver and kidney ills. 50 cts at Paul Drug Co.

Weds Girl Rescued.

Savannah, Ga.—Behind the fact that the Rev. Fred Williams, formerly of Louisville, Ky., and Miss Emily L. Trice, of Savannah, were married here by the Rev. Joseph N. Parker peeps a pretty romance that dates back two months, when the young clergyman saved the life of the girl who is now his bride.

Mr. Williams and Miss Trice were on a boatripe on the Wilmington River near Thunderbolt, Tenn., when, while stepping from the rowboat into a larger craft both Mr. Williams and the girl fell into the water. The tide was running strong and the clergyman had great difficulty in keeping the head of the girl above water until assistance reached them.

Up to that time the couple had been good friends, but had not considered any other possibility. After the rescue their friendship rapidly grew into something closer and dearer. The couple had planned to marry quietly, but they were intercepted by friends on their way to a minister and the occasion made one of some moment.

Mr. Williams came to Savannah from Alaska last October, after spending more than a year in the northern country, where he did missionary work. He is a minister of the Christian Church. As "Ed" Howe Sees Life.

There is one fault we all have; we repeat sensational and scandalous stories on too little authority.

Luck is always against you; it is your business to beat it.

You can't teach a wolf that a wolf's ways are wrong.

Only a few men seem to be honest all the way through; so many men, honest in the main, are a little tricky.

A mother often says: "I believe in young people enjoying themselves;" but fathers usually believe in young people learning to work.

School children laugh as promptly at the teacher's jokes as church people laugh at the jokes of the bishop.

You may neglect the rules, but you can't avoid paying the penalty.

If there is any devil in a man, it comes out when he is presented with a bill for dry goods.

Every man enjoys the glory of converting others to his doctrine.

Liberty is a glorious thing, and so is gallantry, unless they are exaggerated.—Louisville Times.

Notes On City Building.

Find the weak point in your city then apply a remedy.

When capital sees the smoke pouring forth from high smokestacks he promptly pulls out his bank roll.

If you wait until you see what the other fellow is going to do, you won't get anywhere.

If you cannot interest your home people in the city, don't expect outsiders to take notice.

Look after the little enterprises the large ones usually look after themselves

It isn't always the skyscraper that make the city, a factory with a big pay roll will do twice the good.

Be on friendly terms with your competitor, even if you expect him to steal a march on you the next day.

To abuse an investor is to lose him.

Be sure you have something to talk about when you boost your city.

Boosting and toasting are two different things, but both may be used to advantage in building a city.

"The Flour with the Nutty Flavor"

It is made on a "Midget" Marvel Self-Contained Flour Mill—the last word in milling machines. All of the milling operations take place in this one machine. It is a sanitary mill, none of the product is touched by hand or comes in contact with the outside air. In this mill the wheat and flour travel less than twenty feet—instead of the hundreds of feet in the ordinary modern mill—with the result that this unusually short and quick system keeps the flour clear and free from impurities, preserving its natural creamy bloom and the volatile oils which contain the flavor and aroma of the crushed wheat are not evaporated. This flour has that sweet, rich, nutty flavor of the "Old Fashioned" stone ground flour. You will also notice this flour has more strength than other patent flour, it will rise quicker in the dough.

We most cordially invite you down to our plant to see this wonderful mill make "The Flour with the Nutty Flavor."
